It would take light about 8 million years to get across the galaxy cluster El Gordo.

Since light moves at ~186,000 miles per second it might be tough to get there any faster.